

English Time

For the question “how are you?” You always answer, “fine and you?” Let’s change that and learn different ways to answer that question.

Para la pregunta “¿cómo estás?” Siempre respondes, “bien y tú?” Cambiemos eso y aprendamos diferentes formas de responder esa pregunta.

Hey! How are you today?

I’m fine, and you?

Very well, thank you

Stop saying “fine and you?”.
Here you will find different ways to answer the question “how are you”.

Very well, thank you – Muy bien, gracias.

I’m good, thanks for asking. You? - Estoy bien, gracias por preguntar. ¿Y tú?

I’m pretty good. What’s new with you? – Estoy bastante bien. ¿Qué hay de nuevo contigo?

Not bad. You? - Nada mal. ¿Y tú?

I’m alright. You? – Estoy bien. ¿Y tú?

Never been better. What about you? – Nunca he estado mejor. ¿Qué hay sobre ti?

When should I say good or well?

Good: is an adjective, it describes the condition of a person, place, or a thing.

For example:

My son is a good boy. (Mi hijo es un buen chico)

I want to read a good book. (Quiero leer un buen libro)

Well: is an adverb used to describe actions.

For example:

You did well on the exam. (Lo hiciste bien en el examen)

He plays sports well. (Él juega bien a los deportes)

